

Josh Horowitz of MTV.com interviews Anna Kendrick on the Up in the Air red carpet at the Toronto International Film Festival, September 12, 2009

[Transcription by annakendrickonline.org]

JH: So compare red carpets, you've known your fair share of them. Does this compare to a Twilight red carpet. Be honest.

AK: I gotta be honest. This is pretty insane. I don't think anything in my life-- if anything in my life even comes close to a Twilight red carpet, I-- my head might explode.

JH: Have you seen the new trailer, by the way? We're debuting on the MTV Video Music Awards?

AK: I did, I did. I just saw it. It was a very, very small video and it was very blurry. I'm looking forward to seeing it in a big theater.

JH: So what was your first reaction, seeing it in a small form.

AK: Even in a small form, I can't wait to the finished product. I still haven't seen the film. I'm really excited.

JH: What's the scene you're amped up to see in New Moon when it finally comes out?

AK: Oh...love the scene in Italy when...you know...with the...you know...the-- all the, the "sea of the red." You know, they know, the Twi-hards know.

JH: And finally, compare and contrast George Clooney, Robert Pattinson. Go.

AK: I mean-- charming, handsome, lovely to be around.

JH: Check for both?

AK: Oh yeah, check all for both. Yeah.

JH: Major differences?

AK: Umm. One's like my brother and one's like my dad? I don't know.

JH: I can guess which, I think.

AK: Thanks.